

QUESTIONS THAT MAY BE USED TO IDENTIFY TRAFFICKING VICTIMS

You do not need to ask all of these questions. An answer to one, or a combination, may indicate trafficking activity.

- Are they isolated from the community? From their family and friends?
- Are they free to have relationships, participate in sports and attend school?
- Did they come to Kansas for a specific purpose, or to take a specific job? Was that purpose achieved? Do they still work at that job?
- Were they forced to have sex as part of the job they came here to do?
- Does someone keep their money for them? Does someone keep their identification for them?
- Who provides their housing, food and clothing?

QUESTIONS, RED FLAGS AND INDICATORS OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING

Victims may be:

- Men, women and children
- US citizens, legal immigrant and illegal immigrants
- Any minor involved in an economic activity involving sex, that is, commercial sex, is by law a victim of human trafficking

Individuals do not have to have been transported from one location to another to be victims of human trafficking.

Traffickers are:

- Adult men and women, acquaintances, even parents or siblings or other family members
- Teens, because in some cases teens are being used to recruit their peers
- US citizens and legal or illegal immigrants

QUESTIONS THAT MAY BE USED TO IDENTIFY TRAFFICKING VICTIMS

You do not need to ask all of these questions. An answer to one, or a combination, may indicate trafficking activity.

- Are they isolated from the community? From their family and friends?
- Are they free to have relationships, participate in sports and attend school?
- Did they come to Kansas for a specific purpose, or to take a specific job? Was that purpose achieved? Do they still work at that job?
- Were they forced to have sex as part of the job they came here to do?
- Does someone keep their money for them? Does someone keep their identification for them?
- Who provides their housing, food and clothing?

QUESTIONS, RED FLAGS AND INDICATORS OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING

Victims may be:

- Men, women and children
- US citizens, legal immigrant and illegal immigrants
- Any minor involved in an economic activity involving sex, that is, commercial sex, is by law a victim of human trafficking

Individuals do not have to have been transported from one location to another to be victims of human trafficking.

Traffickers are:

- Adult men and women, acquaintances, even parents or siblings or other family members
- Teens, because in some cases teens are being used to recruit their peers
- US citizens and legal or illegal immigrants

QUESTIONS THAT MAY BE USED TO IDENTIFY TRAFFICKING VICTIMS

You do not need to ask all of these questions. An answer to one, or a combination, may indicate trafficking activity.

- Are they isolated from the community? From their family and friends?
- Are they free to have relationships, participate in sports and attend school?
- Did they come to Kansas for a specific purpose, or to take a specific job? Was that purpose achieved? Do they still work at that job?
- Were they forced to have sex as part of the job they came here to do?
- Does someone keep their money for them? Does someone keep their identification for them?
- Who provides their housing, food and clothing?

QUESTIONS, RED FLAGS AND INDICATORS OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING

Victims may be:

- Men, women and children
- US citizens, legal immigrant and illegal immigrants
- Any minor involved in an economic activity involving sex, that is, commercial sex, is by law a victim of human trafficking

Individuals do not have to have been transported from one location to another to be victims of human trafficking.

Traffickers are:

- Adult men and women, acquaintances, even parents or siblings or other family members
- Teens, because in some cases teens are being used to recruit their peers
- US citizens and legal or illegal immigrants

QUESTIONS THAT MAY BE USED TO IDENTIFY TRAFFICKING VICTIMS

You do not need to ask all of these questions. An answer to one, or a combination, may indicate trafficking activity.

- Are they isolated from the community? From their family and friends?
- Are they free to have relationships, participate in sports and attend school?
- Did they come to Kansas for a specific purpose, or to take a specific job? Was that purpose achieved? Do they still work at that job?
- Were they forced to have sex as part of the job they came here to do?
- Does someone keep their money for them? Does someone keep their identification for them?
- Who provides their housing, food and clothing?

QUESTIONS, RED FLAGS AND INDICATORS OF HUMAN TRAFFICKING

Victims may be:

- Men, women and children
- US citizens, legal immigrant and illegal immigrants
- Any minor involved in an economic activity involving sex, that is, commercial sex, is by law a victim of human trafficking

Individuals do not have to have been transported from one location to another to be victims of human trafficking.

Traffickers are:

- Adult men and women, acquaintances, even parents or siblings or other family members
- Teens, because in some cases teens are being used to recruit their peers
- US citizens and legal or illegal immigrants

